History of Class of 1930

Beginning with the lowest form of high school life, the Frosh, we shall trace the class' development and growth to the highest form, Seniors, when the here-tofore dormant spirits begin to bud into young men and women.

'26

Our Freshmen year was the last year of forceful initiation into the realms of education and we suffered agonies those first few weeks. We share the honors of that first year with Principal Salm, Coach Beer, and Miss Sherman, who with the Class of '30, has inspired the student body to bigger and better things. We Freshies held up our end of the disgraceful walk-out, when Madison defeated Columbus in a spectacular struggle 6-3. The first inter-class tourney was staged that year and although our material was undeveloped, we defeated the Juniors in the preliminary of the finals. The mighty Seniors copped the trophy. With three other classes we braved the mysteries of the 3-hour exams, enough pulled through to make a Sophomore class the next year.

'27

This was the last year of football the Sophs were well represented on the team. The one outstanding fact of that year was winning the inter-class tourney. The Frosh were once vanquished and the Seniors twice, once morally—tied score, and once 16-21. The Mahisco was revived and the Sophs added their bit to make it a success. Miss Cole came in mid-semester and Mr. Hodggers also graced the building.

'28

The year of '28 was a glorious one. A wonderful new building and what-not to urge the students on to nobler deeds. Our boys were "Runners-up" for the inter-class trophy and in the spring our girls put up a stiff fight in the finals of the first girls tourney. Junior Joy night was a wonderful success; the king and queen came from our own ranks. The Junior class was well represented on basketball, baseball, track and debating teams, on Madisonian and Mahisco staffs, school orchestra and the school play. The prom of that year was the best one ever known in M. H. S. and the social functions for the Juniors were over.

'29—'30

Early in the year we elected officers and started things off with a bang. Again we saw defeat in the boys inter-class tourney. We had a spooky Hallowe'en party up in the country which was real. The king for Junior Joy Night came again from our ranks. As Seniors we were well represented on the many athletic teams and in scholastic activities. We started the second semester royally with a Valentine party at The Barn. We gave the school books for the library with the idea of more in the future.

And now, with only about eight more weeks to be filled with girls inter-class tourney, class play, "Daddy Long Legs", picnics, Prom, Baccalaureate, and lastly Commencement, we feel that we have had a glorious high school life and we wish to be worthy in the future of our Alma Mater.

Class Poem

They call childhood days the happiest;
But the happiest days, I guess,
That ever came into my life,
Were spent in M. H. S.

O, beauteous school, we praise thee,
And honor much thy name;
Where'er in life our footsteps go,
Our lips shall speak thy fame.

Along the thorny way of math,
Alas, 'twas oft a dreary path;
And tho' old history oft seemed dry,
Let urged us on to do or die.
In manual we toiled with care,
To gain results of honor there.

And now again before us pass
The beauties of our English class,
The gems of literature there taught
Have inspiration to us brought.
And long in memory, plain and clear,
Our own Miss Hilands shall be dear.
Yes, all are dear; emotions swell,
Dear teachers, thank you, and farewell.

And for the girls within our class,
We hope great things may come to pass.
New fields are open for you, too,
Where once the trodden paths were few.
But in thy eager, anxious quest,
Hold Truth and Virtue ever best.

Boys, we may not like Lindbergh soar,
We ne'er may tread a foreign shore,
But God grant that the hand of war
No more may beckon from afar,
To take our bravest and our best;
And let us all join in that quest
To seek a way where war shall cease—
Earth's noblest victories, those of Peace.

The Sunshine Society, founded in November, 1927, by Miss Jessie Wells, is an organization to which any girl in high school may belong. No dues are charged the members, yet hundreds of dollars have passed through the treasury for the betterment of the school and community.

State Conventions are held every year. In 1928 it was held at Crawfordsville and in 1930 it will be held at Tipton.

Due to the influence of our sponsor, Miss Mayme Hadley, the society has been able to spread sunshine and happiness to everyone.

The Sunshine Society has done much good, not only in the community but also in the school, as it promotes a feeling of comradeship and friendliness among the girls.

 HERBERT MILLER ..... Secretary      CHARLES HAUNGS ..... Secretary
 JAMES CHADWICK, JOE ECKERT, HERMAN YATER.

The year 1930 marks an advancement of the Hi-Y Club. There was a large increase in the number of members, and because of this increase the organization was divided into three chapters. Each chapter has its own officers, and meets at a separate meeting. Although the club is divided by the chapters, it still retains the primary principles of the original Hi-Y, and it still lives up to its purpose to create, maintain, and extend throughout, the school and community high standards of Christian living.

Most noted among the achievements of the club for this year was the Older Boys' Conference, which was held here in March. The Madison Hi-Y as the host, prepared an entertaining and educational program for the visiting schools.

The officers of the chapters are as follows:

Senior—James Chadwick, President; Jack Miller, Vice-President; Harold Niese, Secretary; Keith Stewart, Treasurer.

Sophomore—Joe Cooper, President; John Morrow, Vice-President; Jimmie Tidball, Secretary; Charles Potter, Treasurer.

This year it sponsored a "Round Robin" tournament for those ineligible in varsity athletics, and the girls Inter-class tournament. The "M" Club has done much for the betterment of our school not only toward athletics, but scholastics as well.

Ceeobeers Conquests

By the banks of the Ohio,
By the murky brown sewer-water,
Stood the wigwam of Ceeobeer,
Chief of basketball, Ceeobeer,
In his lodge beside the river,
In the gym beside the water,
Sat the wily cunning chieftain,
Planning warfare on his neighbors,
Planning on the tribe of Davis,
Central High and North Madison,
Plotting plots against old Scottsburg,
Scheming schemes against Hanover.

Then he went unto the people,
Called his fighting men together,
Sounded war-cry for his warriors,
Summoned them unto the Brown gym.
There he showed them feat of battle,
Trained them there to play like wild-fire,
Practiced them with one another.

Came the winter, cold and dreary,
Came the north wind, chilly blizzard,
Then they set out on the war-path,
Ceeobeer with all his warriors,
Fought the agile, lithe North Towners,
Fast and furious was the struggle
Faster, thicker came the baskets,
Foster ticked the timer's stop-watch,
Louder came the shrieks of women,
Came the oaths of all old men,
Harder fought both sides to conquer,
Fought with all their craft and cunning,
Then upon the field of battle,
There within the Brown gymnasium,
Came a roar, a flash of lightning,
Telling that the fray was over.
Then with war-chant, all his people,

All his children, M. H. S. Cubs,
Raised their voices unto heaven,
Raised their voices in thanksgiving.

Then this head man, bravest warrior,
Chief of all his men, this Miller,
Fell beside the warpath dying,
Grasping for the tainted wampum,
Great the grief among his fellows,
Greater still the grief of Charlie,
Thus in vain they fought North Vernon,
Thus they lost a bloody contest.
Turning then upon the helpless,
Butchering the men of Cummings,
Making apes of all Hanover,
Conquered them in quite a struggle.

All the other tribes of warriors,
Battling hard with one another,
Bringing down each others standing,
Left the Red and White victorious,
Came the smoking of the peace-pipe,
Came rejoicing over victories,
Wetterick, Walker, and J. Miller,
Jose and Scott and Hall and Greene,
Then too there were left of that squad,
Cooper, Jacobs, also Mills,
On the banks of the Ohio,
Near the muddy sewer-water.

Jokes

DON'T BELIEVE IT OR DO

The scene was the court of King Nebuchadnezzar. The royal monarch strode up and down, evidently not at peace with his fellow-men. He summoned the royal purser, a Mr. O'Brien by name.

"Ods bodkins, gazooks, and other medieval cusswords," he said, "what would't thou? The great city of Babylon is well-nigh bankrupt."

"Most high and gracious monarch, son of the stars, grandson of the moon, and third cousin to Addison Simms of Seattle," said the purser, who's name, you know, was O'Brien, "it is impossible that your kingdom make any kale."

"By my troth," said Neb, "and why is it so impossible?"

"Your royal highness," said the purser, named of course, O'Brien, "the reason that this great commonwealth cannot take in any simolcons is because the lions eat up all the prophets."

For that lousy feeling—scratch.

NEW PROPOSITION

Given: You have a girl.

To Prove: She loves you.

Proof: Shakespeare said: "All the world loves a lover." You love her. She is all the world to you. Therefore, she loves you.

Speedy—Come on, sweetheart, give me a kiss.

Carolyn—Why, I've never kissed a boy in my life.

Speedy—Well, don't go putting on airs. Neither have I!

Swimming Instructor—Can you swim very well?

Charles Demsree—No, sir; but I sure can wade.

The only difference that graduation makes in a man is that "this darned prison" becomes the "dear old Alma Mater."

Annette—The man I marry must be brave as a lion, but not forward; handsome as a Green god, but not conceited; wise as Solomon, but meek as a lamb; a man who is kind to every woman, but who loves only one.

Eugene—How lucky we met!

Would-be Suicide—Don't rescue me; I want to die.

Cordia Chambers—Well, you'll have to postpone that. I want a life-saving medal.

We editors may dig and write
"Till our finger-tips are sore,
But some smart guy is sure to blurt
"I've heard that joke before."

Contests

THE KIWANIS AWARD

Following the custom of the past two years, the Madison Kiwanis Club presented awards to one girl and one boy of the Senior Class. To qualify for this award, the boy must have won a letter "M" in athletics, rank high scholastically, and have an excellent attitude towards school work and activities. Likewise, the girl must have participated in extra-curricular activities during her four years, have displayed the proper attitude and school spirit, and have ranked high in grades.

The winners of the medals from this year's class were: Wilbur Barton and Bessie Kloss. The awards were made on commencement night.

CUSTER ORATORICAL CONTEST

The annual Custer Oratorical Contest was held this year on May the eighth. By an endowment fund Mr. A. S. Custer, formerly of North Madison, made possible the prize money for this contest. The prizes consist of a $25.00, a $10.00 and three $5.00 gold pieces.

The five persons ranking highest in grades are eligible to compete, but if any of these choose not to enter, the next highest becomes eligible.

The students who participated this year were LaVerne Turner, Lucie Miles, Bessie Kloss, Hilbert Cofield and Harold Jones.

DEBATING

The Mahisco Literary Society for the past two years has sponsored a debating team in M. H. S. More progress was made this year than had been made formerly. Two debates were held with North Vernon and the M. H. S. varsity team was composed of Winnie Collins, Dru Ogden, Margaret Rea, Nellie Jones, Joe Eckert, Keith Stewart, Hilbert Cofield and Richard Cox.

An inter-class debating tourney was held this year and such interest was manifested that it is planned to make this an annual event.

COMMERCIAL CONTEST

In the district Commercial Contest which was held this year at Aurora, M. H. S. was well represented. Bessie Kloss, Mildred Tevis and Mary Elizabeth McKeand entered in beginning short-hand. In bookkeeping Margaret Rea participated, and she received first place. Lucie Miles, Charlotte Torrance and Dru Ogden were entered in the typing contest.

The short-hand team was entered in the state, Bessie Kloss taking first place, Mildred Tevis second and Mary E. McKeand third in the district. Margaret Rea represented the bookkeeping class in the state, which was held at Muncie.

ESSAY AND ORATORICAL CONTESTS

The Indiana Bar Association has been attempting to arouse more interest in questions pertaining to our constitution, and it has sponsored essay and oratorical contests throughout the state. The prizes for our county contestants were provided by the Jefferson County Bar Association.

This year M. H. S. had entries in both contests. Lavina Harsin received third prize in the county in the essay contest, and Eugene Cooper was granted third place in the oratorical contest. Each of these students received an award of $5.00.

The Indianapolis News conducted a contest this year in which essays were written on the subject "How to Improve our State Government." Mary Keelty's essay was given first place in the school contest and was entered in the state.
