M.C.H.S. Observes Centennial

Chalk up one hundred graduating classes in the annals of Madison Consolidated High School as the seniors of 1963 receive their diplomas.

The first class, graduated in 1855, consisted of Mary D. and Sarah Reid (sisters), Letitia M. Smith, and James R. Ely. Since that time the classes have dropped and grown in size. In 1864 one girl, Anna Langtry Burton, was graduated. In 1963 the largest class ever, graduated, containing 153 seniors. For several years, however, there were no graduating seniors. For instance, due to the change from a three-year to a four-year high school, no class was graduated in 1893. The years in which there were no graduates account for the fact that only one hundred classes have graduated from the high school, which is actually one hundred and eight years old.

Madison has had some trouble, too. From August, 1857, to September, 1861, the public schools were closed because certain taxpayers felt that schools were an unnecessary extravagance. Also they were plagued by the ever-present problem of over-crowdedness. The school was forced to move its headquarters in 1877, 1928, and again in 1960.

Then there were the progressive times. During the 1880-1890 decade, the superintendency became a continuing and professional job. Dr. James H. Martin held the post for nine of the ten years and is given credit for having reorganized the schools and strengthened the position of the high school in the community.

of Graduating Classes

The 1890's must be regarded as the years in which the extra-curricular activities really "arrived" in Madison. Much of the credit for the enlargement of the school functions must go to Charles M. McDaniels, successor to George C. Hubbard (1890-1892) as principal, and to David M. Geeting, who became Superintendent of Schools in March, 1892. In 1895 the first school annual, THE APOTHEGM, was published and three years later replaced by a school paper.

It wasn't until 1930-1931, when the high school enrollment passed the three hundred mark, that the faculty was increased from three to fifteen. This occurred at the building on Broadway and First, whose total capacity was three hundred students.

The courses available to M.C.H.S. students have gradually increased until there are now five offered. These are as follows: Academic, Business, General, Home Economics, and Industrial Arts.

Much of this growth and progress is due to the guidance of Mr. E. O. Muncie, who for a period of forty-one years served as Superintendent of Madison Public Schools, and Mr. Connor K. Salm, Principal of Madison High School for thirty-six years. This year we welcome Mr. Myrwin W. Anderson and Mr. H. Brooklyn Cull to our school as Principal and Assistant Principal, respectively, to work with Mr. George Cook, Superintendent, for continued progress of Madison Consolidated High School.

Memories . . .

After attending school in various buildings such as the American Legion building (left), the students moved into the first constructed high school in Madison (right).

In 1927, the high school on Broadway was constructed. High school students attended here until 1960 when they moved to the new Madison Consolidated High School on the hill.

The new consolidation consisted of Madison High School, North Madison High School (upper left), Central School (lower left), and the North Broadway School (right).

... Are Made of This

The centennial class members receive their diplomas in the new M.C.H.S. building.

"Rhapsody in Stardust" is Theme of '62 Prom

King Jim Ralston and Queen Judy Price reign over candidates Wanda Sipe, Judy Miller, Janie Hines, Gene Riedel, Mike McCoy, and Ed Sudlow.

Twistin' the night away is the goal of Ray Lawrence and Jacqui Thurman.

Cliff Lash entertains for second consecutive Prom.

"Paradise of the Deep" Is Highlight of 1963

"Where's the next body?"

Juniors Tony Jacobs and Susan Chadwick capture Prom crowns.

"Cinderella Complex" Shows Untapped Talent

Mike Jacobs, Joan Larabee, Penny Scott, Sue Dobyns, Serena Willis, Bev Chase, Al Huntington, Jerry Howard, Diane Demaree, and Bill Pacey are practicing at dress rehearsal for the All-School Play.

"Does she, or doesn't she?"

"Oh! There goes my trick knee again!"

Seniors Are Terrific in "The Whole Truth"

"You've got to stop going out with older men!" (Penny Scott, Al Huntington)

"I thought straight jackets were banned in mental hospitals!" (Lee Ann Zink, Gavin Lodge, John Mills)

"Have you ever taken a Tussy bubble bath?" (Lee Ann Zink, Al Huntington)

"My mother told me I had a hair problem." (Mary Ann Long, Serena Willis)

Custer Rides Again!

The Custer Oratorical Contest is made possible each year by a donation from the late Mr. A. S. Custer in 1911. The participating pupils must have attended M.C.H.S. all four years and must be the top five seniors scholastically who are willing to take part. This year's winner was Lee Ann Zink. Penny Scott copped second and Linda Schiphorst, Jack Call, and Serena Willis placed third.

Congratulations!

Gavin Lodge does M.C.H.S. proud by his being named a National Merit Finalist.

Robert Crittenden Hughes III recently learned that he had been accepted at West Point Military Academy.

Proudly, We Display Our Queens!

Sharon King, M.C.H.S. Homecoming Queen, was crowned at the Madison-Aurora football game. The other candidates were Janice Morse, Bev Chase, Sue Wheeler, Carolyn Hammack, and Vicky Buhlig. This was the first homecoming for Madison and is to become an annual event.

Gene Riedel proudly shows off the Homecoming Queen, Miss Sharon King.

Carolyn Hammack, a M.C.H.S. senior, was crowned Miss Cub of 1963 by Elaine Willis, last year's Miss Cub. The other senior candidates chosen by the F.H.A. were Nadine Bonadio, Beverly Chase, and Judy Scarlett. Miss Cub was announced during the special half-time program at the last home basketball game.

Miss Cub, Carolyn Hammack, and her escort, Bob West, pause for a moment after the half-time activities.

Outstanding Achievement Rewarded

Class President Al Huntington presides over Senior Honor Day festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Reul, Senior class sponsors, received a well-deserved gift from the class of '63.

On Honors' Day, eight graduating seniors with a seven-semester average of 95 or better were presented with blazers in acknowledgement for their excellent academic averages. The recipients were Lee Ann Zink, Linda Schiphorst, Serena Willis, Penny Scott, Mary Jane Hayes, Jack Call, Gavin Lodge, and Ron Finke.

Students Learn to Speak for Living

Marcia Kemp and Bruce MacKenzie utilize our modern library facilities.

Reading laboratory improves the students' reading ability.

"Everyone on your toes!" Mike Jacobs, George Ann Brock, and Helen Lawrence practice pantomiming in speech class.

... at Home ... and Abroad ...

"Demosthenes did NOT say that; Plato did." Mrs. Wingham's speech class makes use of the opaque projector.

"Altogether now - 1, 2, 3. . ." Mrs. Willis' Spanish class makes use of the tape recorder.

Ronnie Nay, David Kugler, R. D. Zink, and Jim Denson present a play for the Latin Club.

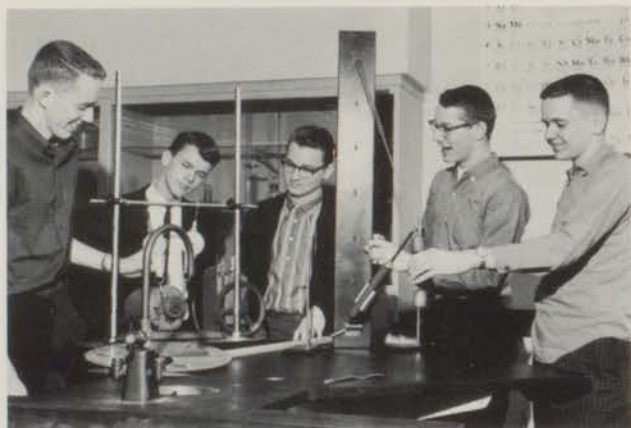

Science Stimulates Students' Studies

Janice Wheeler, Judy Smith, Bob Knoebel, and Charlie Bill Peddie experiment with the aquarium.

Mr. Cory demonstrates dissecting to his biology class. (Betty Miller, Charles Poindexter, Dianna Stewart, and Gary Taylor.)

Future scientists (John Etherton, Steinar Aamdal, Dale Ludwig, Bob Cooke, and Frank Smith) work in Mr. Denson's lab.

John Etherton, Pat Sloan, and Steinar Aamdal show interest in electronics during chemistry class. (They look as if they know what they are doing, anyway.)

Meet the Future Leaders

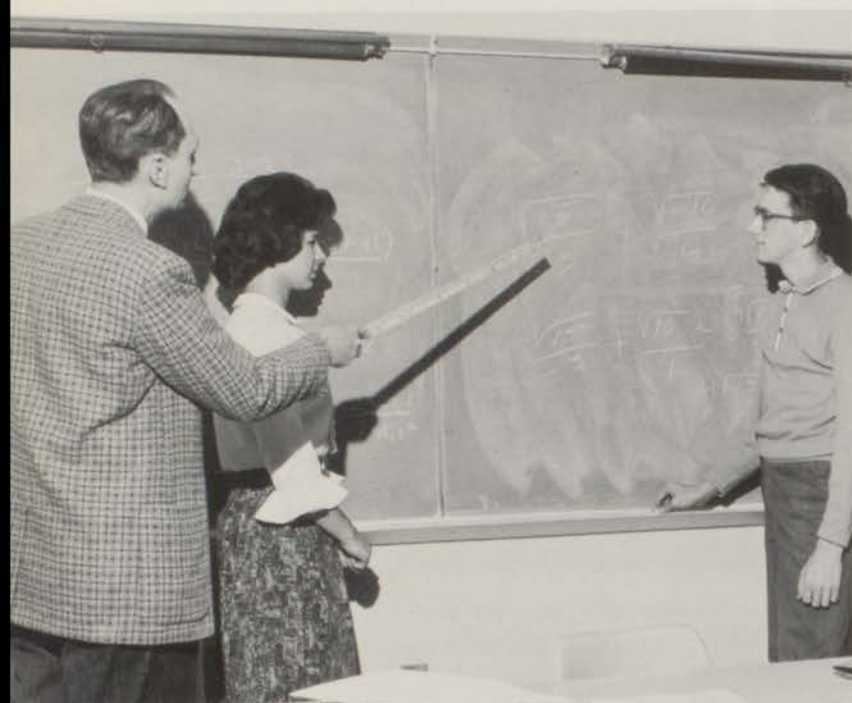

"Don't be half safe, use Ban!" Assemblies add interest and variety to our daily school life.

". . . . and then the little boy bee says. . ." Bob Houghton and Rob Hughes listen to Steinar Aamdal give his rebuttal during a debate on Reciprocal Free Trade.

American Problems makes students aware of social and economic problems. (Vicky Buhlig, Al Brittingham, Mike Bright, and Dave Bentley.)

Teacher, Tell Me More

Junior algebra, which is often confusing, is made easier through the help of Mr. Wilson. Here Dolly Geisler and Don Graves are beginning "to see the light."

Mr. Buckles' sophomore geometry classes are a big hurdle to these young mathematicians.

Keep track of those compasses; you'll need them in senior math.

It's a Rough Business!

Janie Hines, Patti Poole, Wanda Pruett, and Sonjia Martin set up a mock office for practice which will be needed in later life.

"Sally, please, I'd rather do it myself!" Sally Kirk and Nancy Martin help Connie Wheeler during typing class.

"Get to work, girls..." Mrs. Reul keeps the business machines class busy.

They're Always Busy

Barbara Smith and Julia Humes watch as Rebara Thorpe and Florence Wells take a tempting dish from the oven.

Sewing is a part of home economics course which requires skill and patience. Linda Williams shows her skill to Linda Miller and Annabelle Leisure.

Ruth Wingham demonstrates a new cooking technique to Miss Davis' class.

Dean Clapham tries to salvage his "pride and joy" in auto mechanics. Here he is welding.

Harold Kinman watches Don Marshall adjust the engine.

New Course Trains Mechanics

Steve Cosby learns from Clarence Parker and Harry Lawrence how to operate the lathe.

Lois Jones and Dee Moreillon practice lettering in art class.

Mr. Whitlock demonstrates the potter's wheel to his art class.

Be Creative!

Mary Wilking, George Ann Brock, John Bavender, and Lonnie Surrett show their various talents in stone sculpturing and oil painting.

Classes Stress Physical Fitness and Safety

The girls' physical education class stands at attention as roll is taken.

Callisthenics is mandatory in boys' physical education.

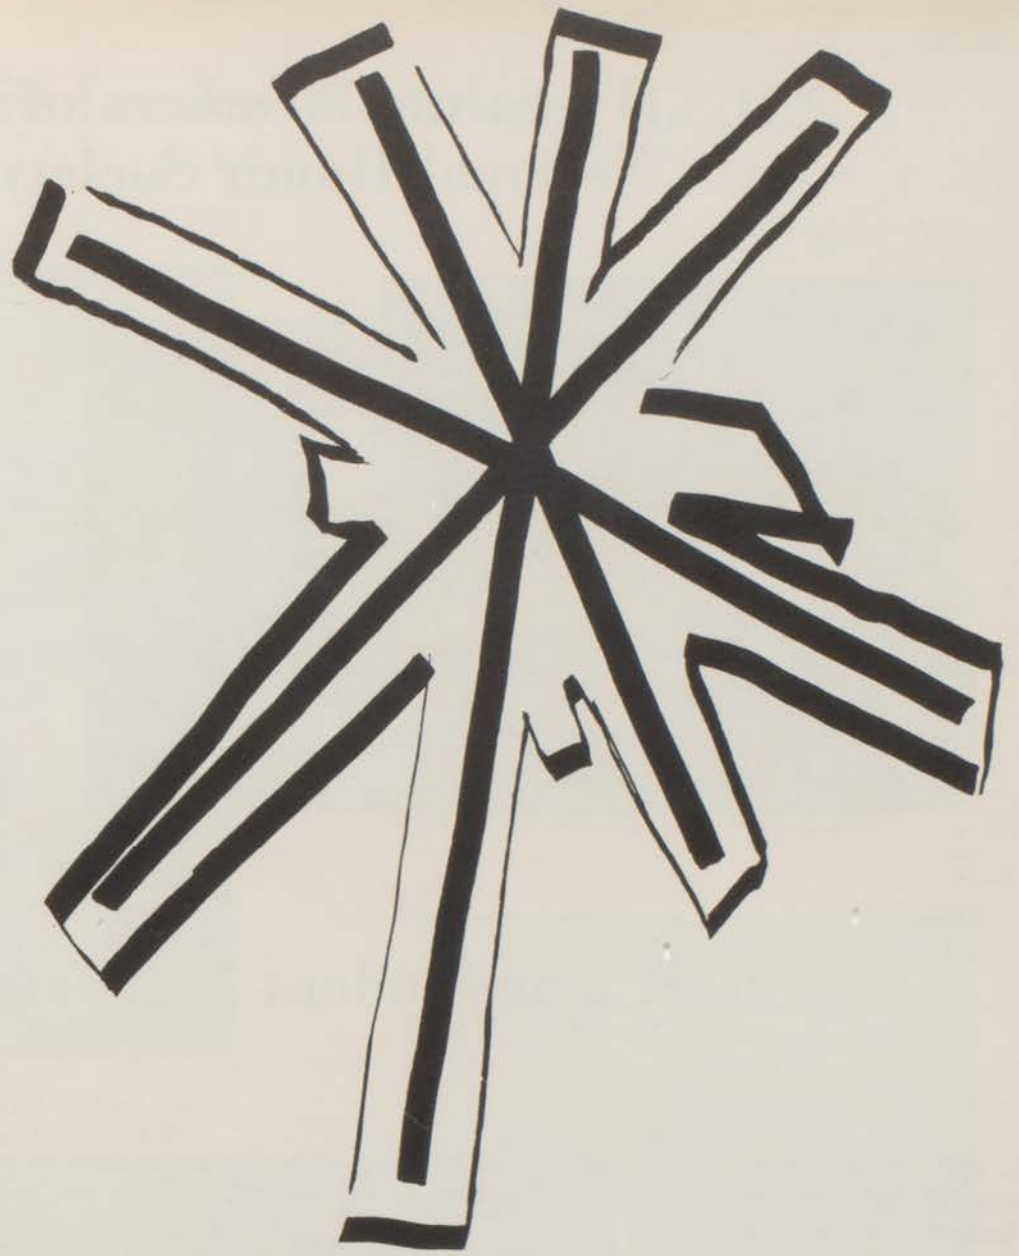

Former drivers' training students, Ed Marquis, Dick Fuller, Nadine Bonadio, and Mary Ann Long, review safe driving habits.

Cheerblock Urges Cubs to Victory

One hundred ninety booming voices comprise Madison's cheerblock. Under the guidance of Miss Eisenhardt the group not only provided backing to our Cubs, but also entertainment during half time. For the first time the cheerblock was active during the entire basketball season as well as the tournament.

"Let's go, Cubs; let's go, Cubs!!!"

Students Achieve Goals in Education

ALBUM

Administration Guides . . .

Mr. Myrwin Anderson assumed the leadership of M.C.H.S. at the beginning of the 1962-63 school year. He began his educational career with a B.S., P.E., and M.P.E. from Purdue University where he majored in social studies, health, and drivers' training. He started teaching at Batesville where he coached and taught for two years. He then came to M.H.S. to coach and teach for the next five years. The following seven years found him as principal of the North Madison and E. O. Muncie schools before entering the halls of M.C.H.S.

Mr. Brooklyn Cull, a native of Madison and well-known to most of the M.C.H.S. students, became assistant principal of our high school for the 1962-63 school year. Mr. Cull received his A.B. from Hanover College in 1947 with majors in social studies, English, and German, and he obtained his M.A. in American history from Indiana University in 1952. After completing his studies, he served for three years in the U.S. Army and returned to Madison to begin his teaching career. Mr. Cull has taught in our junior high and high schools for sixteen years and will soon assume the position of Curriculum Director of the Madison Consolidated Schools.
