Hello Darkness

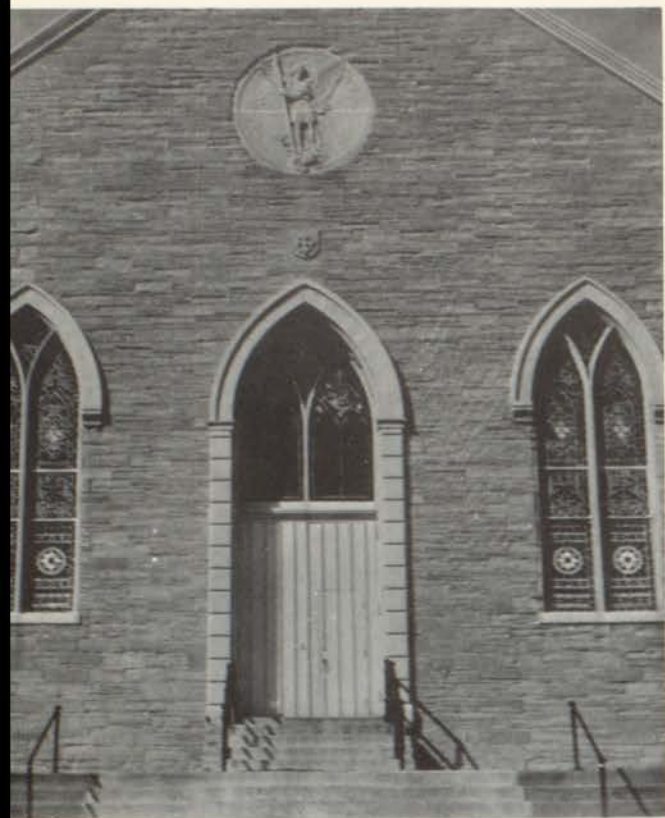

Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel are two of the most inspirational song writers of our time. As a team they lead all of the rest in their efforts to perfect society. Young people of today find it easy to identify with their lyrics. These are the reasons that the 1969 Hilltopper staff has picked as the theme of this year's book "The Songs of Simon and Garfunkel."

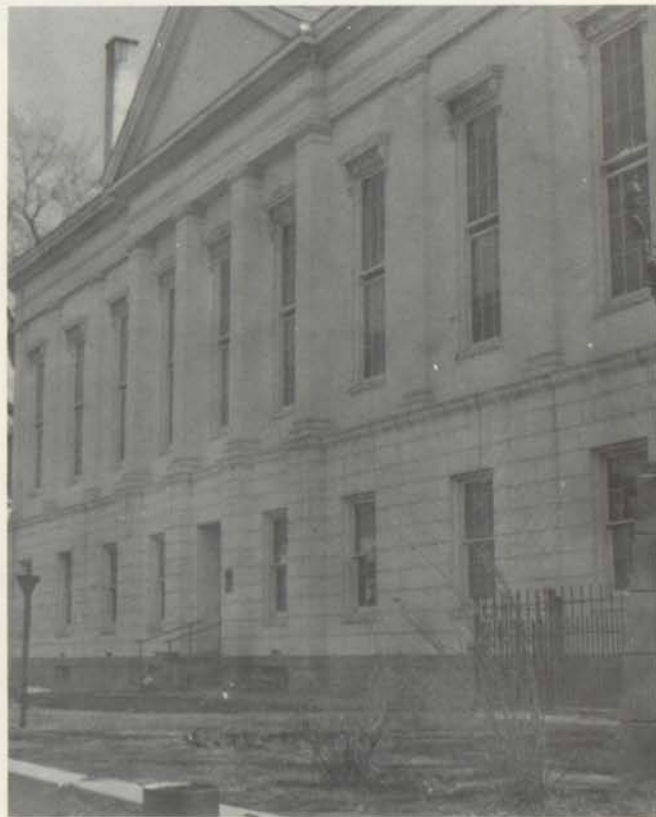

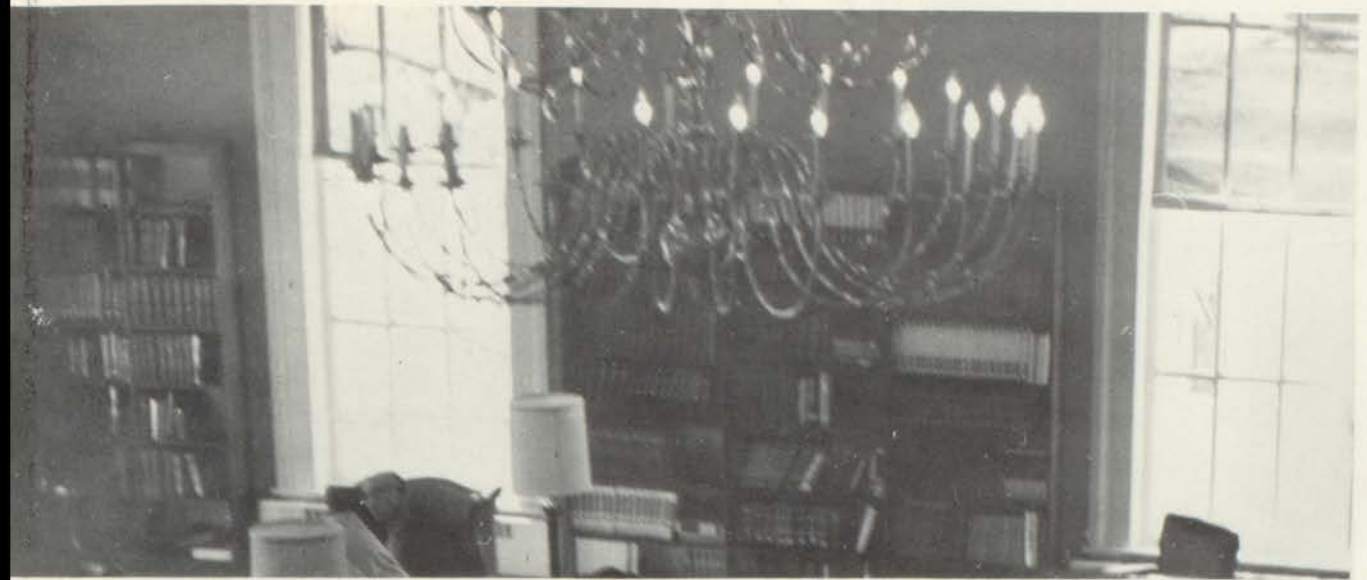

A vital ingredient to education is inspiration. Any institution of learning must inspire a burning desire for knowledge if it is to achieve its purpose. The staff of the 1969 Hilltopper feels that Shawe does inspire a desire for knowledge. The feeling is that even though Simon and Garfunkel inspire young people in a different manner than Shawe, there is still a deep connection between the two.

FACULTY

*Hear My Words
That I Might Teach You*

The contribution that the Shawe faculty makes towards the education of the students is fantastic. Their work does not begin as they walk into the classroom; nor does it end when they walk out. It is a continuous process that they painstakingly undertake. Shawe's faculty continues the education process in the halls, at the dining table, in the guidance room, and on the athletic field. They constantly teach so the students may constantly learn.

UNDERCLASSMEN

*I Have to Doubt
All That I Once Held True . . .*

Throughout the school year, the underclassmen have not only gained knowledge and profited from the faculty, but have also learned to question what they say. It is not enough anymore to accept blindly what adults say, but the students come to search, probe, and strive for truth here at Shawe Memorial High School.

"Do you believe in the hereafter?"

President Phil Hertz, Vice-President Pat Heitz, Secretary Bridget O'Conner and Treasurer Dot Fox hope to start their first year at Shawe successfully and represent their class to the best of their ability.

Are All Keys to Success

Now really, Bob Framme, is the problem that complicated or are you just dreaming?

Sister Xavier helps these troubled freshman girls with many hardships of writing a term paper.

"Now look Louie, I have told you a thousand times how to do this problem," exclaims Maryella.

Joe don't you really know how to work the problem or are you just trying to get attention from Shirlee?

From the looks on Paul's face, there's something else in that microscope besides biology.

Here's Sister Josephita leading her bright Spanish II class in a serenade of delightful songs.

Betty, Nancy and Patty have nice looking CURVES! (that is, shorthand curves.)

The freshman Physical class take time out from a strenuous game of basketball to pose for Hilltopper '69'.

ACTIVITIES

Smiling Faces Try to Understand — I Saw a Shadow Touch a Shadow's Hand . . .

Our world today calls not only for intellectual achievement but also for the capability to mix with others, whether in planning a program or enjoying a social moment. Shawe has met this call by offering an organization or activity for each student. This year even a special 35 minutes were set aside at the end of the day for an Activity Period. A chance to lead or represent comes in the Student Council; class-sponsored sock-hops and the Prom offer opportunities to socialize; and scholarship and service are recognized in the National Honor Society. These are only a few; look around and you'll find many more—one to suit you. It's in mixing with your fellow students that you learn to understand them. It's here that you, a shadow, can touch another shadow's hand.

Herman adds just the right touch as he po' shes the floor in readiness for the expected crowd.

Juniors Prepare

What are Connie, Nancy and Susan brewing up for the dinner?

C'mon, Clara, get to work! It's almost time for the Junior Dinner to begin.

for Big Dinner

Smiling Judy Gonya and Clara Lichlyter are two of the behind-the-scenes workers who helped make the dinner a success.

This is one of the few times during the '68-'69 season that Varsity Cheerleaders Rhonda, Rosie, Coni, Lynn, Kathy, and Suzanne got a chance to rest.

Patti, Carolyn, Karen, Maria, Cindy, and Linda are the six who cheer the Junior Varsity on to victory.

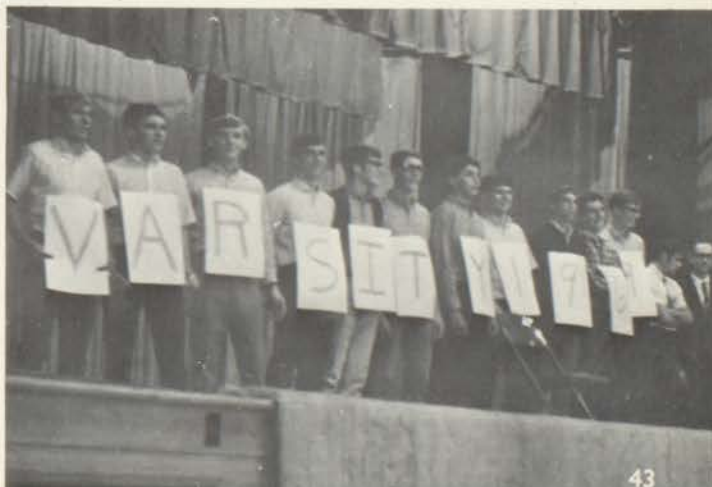

Pep Club officers, Barb Schwacke, Pres.; Carolyn Schafer, Vice-Pres.; Linda Kasper, Secretary; and Judy Gonya, Treasurer, pop up in the locker room displaying that Shawe spirit.

Suzanne, as the Wizard, decides to help Shawe have a winning basketball season.

The varsity shows off in a pre-game pep rally.

NHS Plans Activities

President Tom Hoffman, aided by Carolyn Yetter, Vice-president; Mary Beth Bond, Sec.; and Margaret Ann Kelly, Treas., presides at a meeting of the National Honor Society.

Leo Ringwald emphasizes a point for his panel: "Tips for Tuff Males".

A cosmetician demonstrates on Margaret Ann Kelly the proper way to apply make-up.

Mike Shipley and Tom Hoffman hide their smiles while Ron Reitman laughs openly as John Muessel and Bob Stucker model hair styles for the male sex.

Marta Dwyer and Dick Wolf, seniors, were named "Teen Queen and King" during Youth Appreciation week sponsored by the Madison Optimist Club.

Parents take their turns behind the desks during "Parents Night".

The senior "chipmunks" perform at the Christmas program.

President Dick Wolf discusses Student Council problems with Fr. Kadel, advisor; Mary Hoffman, treasurer; Carolyn Yetter, vice-president; and Theresa Schafer, secretary.

Various Activities Round Out the Year . . .

Tom Vandewater displays the techniques of a good debater.

Rosie York crowns Suzanne Lopez Queen of the Prom, while Dick Wolf looks on waiting for his royal crown to be placed on his head next. Wow! Dick has already been crowned.

Dick and Sue dance into the evening as King and Queen of the Prom.

Ronnie and Tommy fell under the spell of their dates early in the evening.

As usual merry Tom Hoffman keeps his companions in smiles.

Included in Sue and Dick's court are Ronnie Hoffman, Mary Beth Bond, Bob Wolf, and Coni Sommer.

Alice O'Dell and her date enter the archway to the Prom, "Traces of Love".

Pattie Barber seems to be enjoying this dance. Can you tell us why?

Fr. Lawler helps himself to the refreshments provided at the new Clifty Inn for the Prom.

These juniors look like they are enjoying the Prom, don't they?

These chaperones and guests are engaged in a serious conversation.

This year's band, "THE MYSTICS" provided an evening of delightful entertainment.

"Hold 'er, Deacon," yells Officer O'Hara (Tom Hoffman) to Dr. Einstein (Andy Guarino).

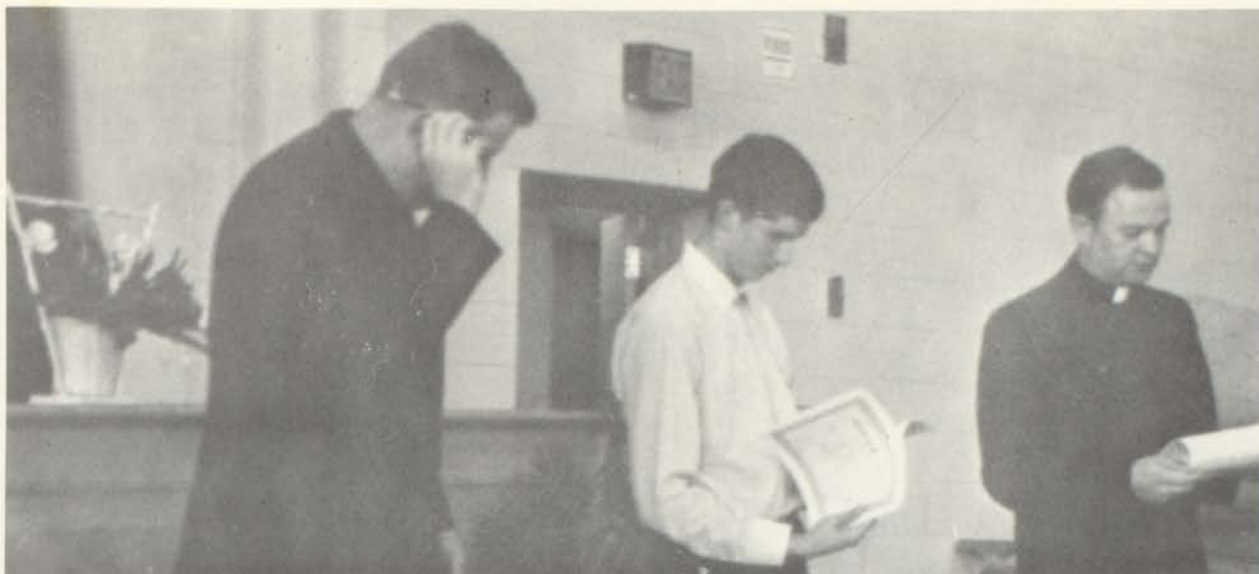

Senior Play Is Success

Make-up expert Libby Dattilo experiments with Ronnie Hoffman before opening night.

"Now listen to this," says Officer O'Hara to Mortimer Brewster (Tom Hendrick).

Leo Ringwald performs his first duty as the new Student Council President.

SPORTS

"I See Someone to Be Proud of"

Yes, there is someone to be proud of; every individual on this earth is someone to be proud of. But now is the time to narrow it down to Shawe's special someone, the athlete. Whether he is in track, baseball, cross country, golf, or basketball he is special. For everyone who reads this yearbook, there is someone to be proud of.

"This is a ball!"

"Hi!"

"I switched and I'm glad I did!"

Say guys, is it game time or prayer time?

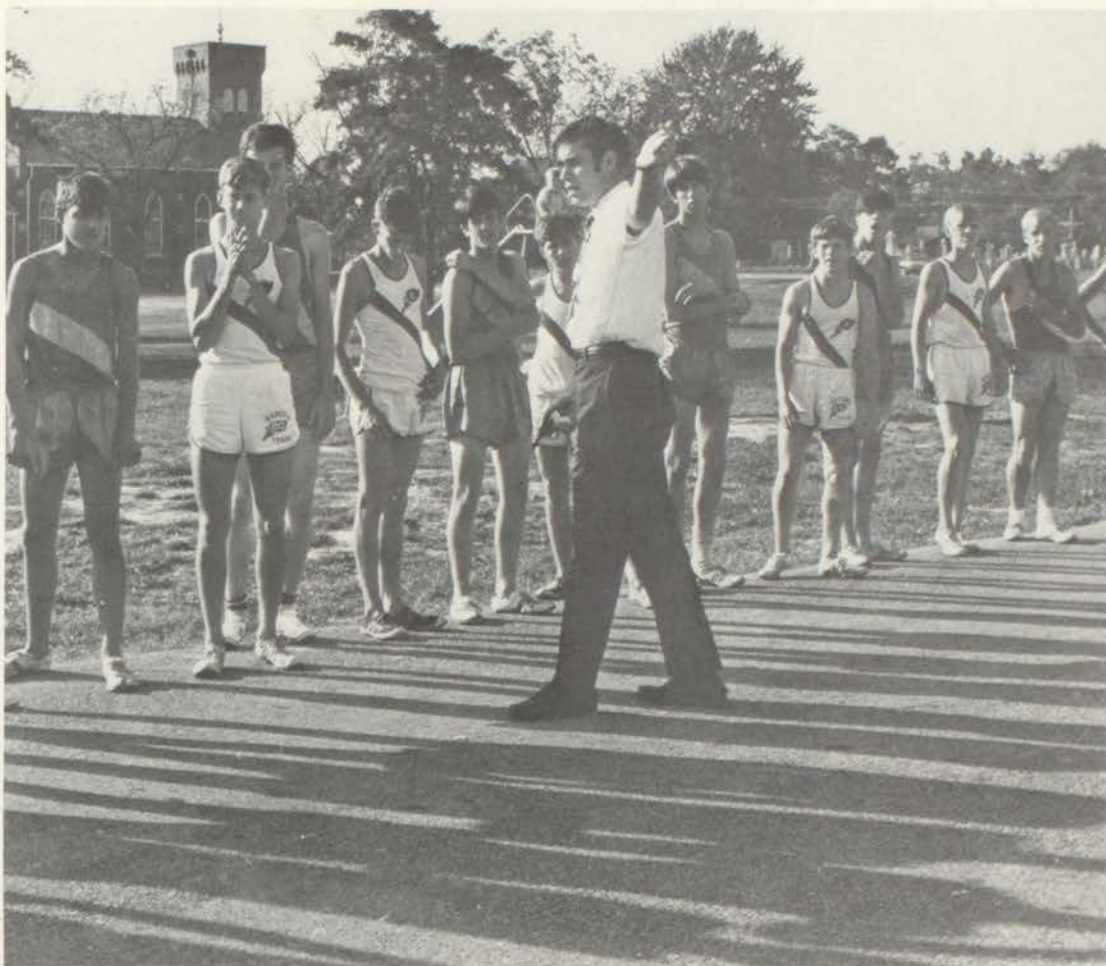

People who hit little ball with wooden stick should be caged!

"Do you want me to wrap them or do you want to wear them?"

"Ok, who took the ball?"

"Go down two miles, turn to your left and you'll find the out house."

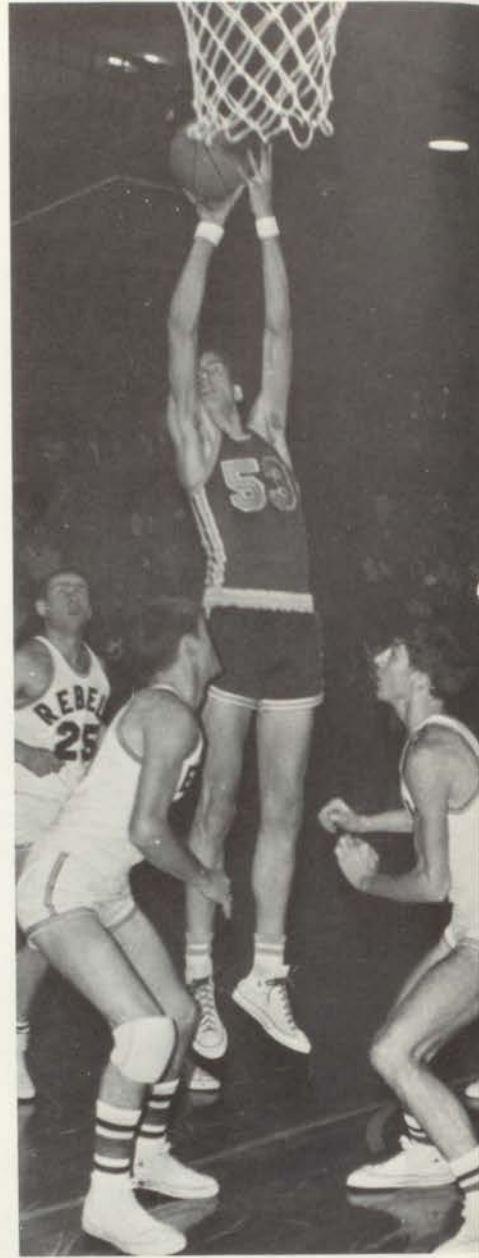

"Wait till I get a hold of that Mr. McKenna."

"Is this a dream?"

A silly millimeter longer.

Could Mr. Lee be thinking of the oncoming J.C.I.T.?

"Oh my gosh, it's stuck!"

Faithful and true-hearted, let it burn for Shawe Memorial High.

"Finally after two years."

Ask Andy if his P.F. Flyers really speed him up!

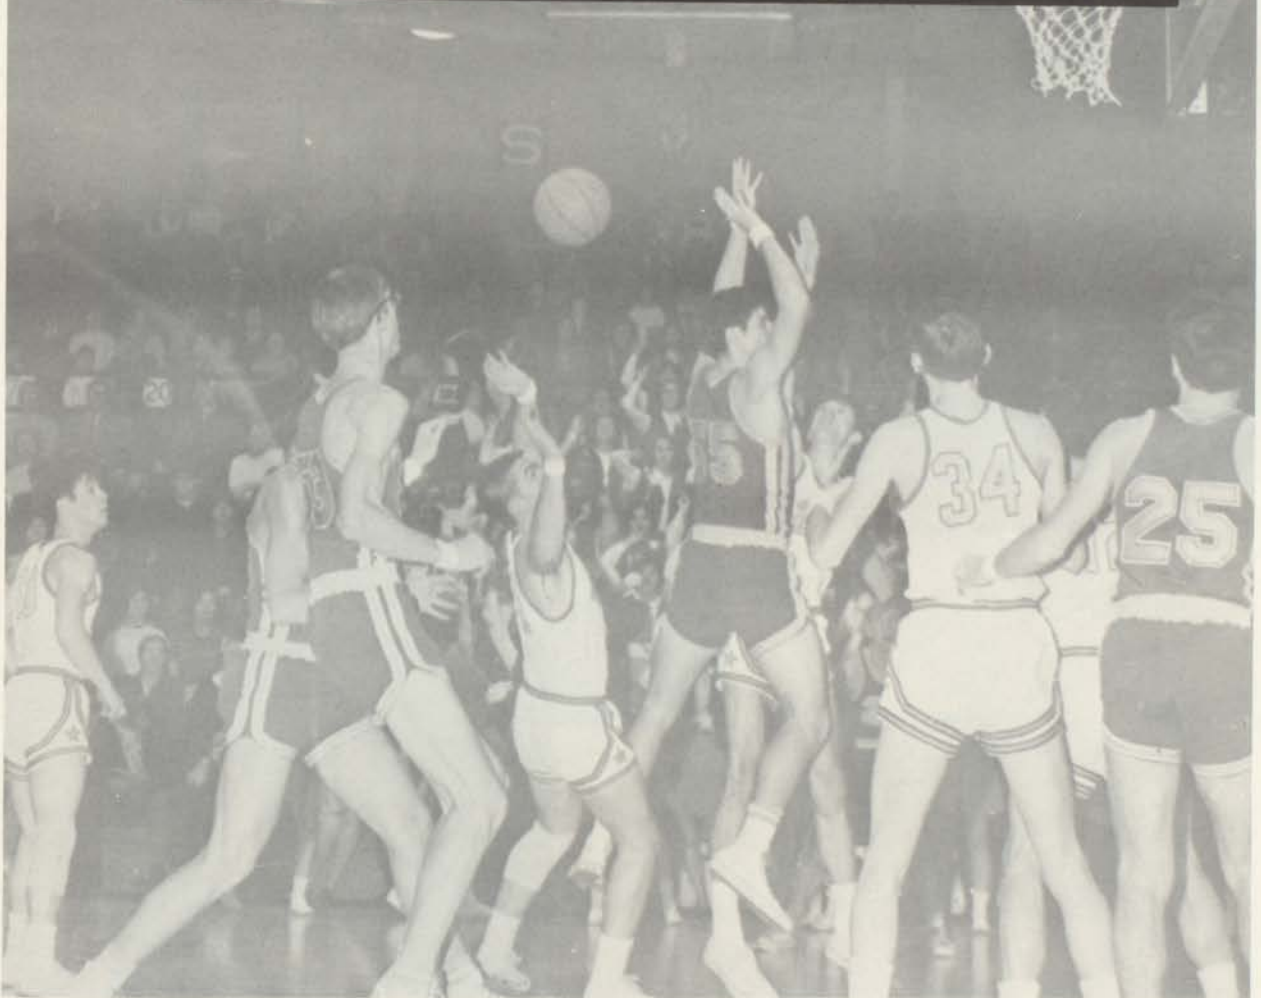

"Whoa!"

Mr. McKenna is guarded by his Senior Mascots.

Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was . . .
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago . . . it must be . . .
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories;
They're all that's left you.
